FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MORPC Director Laura Koprowski wins John Bosley Leadership Award from the National Association of Regional Councils

(Columbus, OH – July 7, 2016) The Mid-Ohio Regional Planning Commission (MORPC) Public & Government Affairs Director Laura Koprowski received The John Bosley Leadership Award from the National Association of Regional Councils (NARC) in Salt Lake City, Utah, on June 28. This prestigious national award recognizes the outstanding service and contributions exhibited by an individual to advance the success of the regional community.

Koprowski in her role as Director of Public and Government Affairs is responsible for creating and executing communications, marketing, and advocacy strategies to promote MORPC and its mission. During her tenure, she created and implemented the MORPC Regional Policy Roundtable, a legislative task force that collectively creates regional priorities, a regional mission, and a regional vision that is the basis for advocacy at the state and national levels. Koprowski convenes newly elected officials to educate them about MORPC, its policy and legislative priorities. She is a consummate advocate, briefing lawmakers and testifying on issues of significance to the region.

“Laura’s vision for a new role for regional councils in cross-sector collaboration and public policy advocacy is notable,” states William Murdock, MORPC Executive Director. “Her work over the past few years is motivating new approaches for the entire regional community. We are proud of her recognition and the service she provides to Central Ohio.”
