The Mid-Ohio Regional Planning Commission works to enhance the quality of life and competitive advantages of the central Ohio region by working through local governments and other constituents.

The Mid-Ohio Regional Planning Commission (MORPC) is the place where visions and ideas about our growing region are created, designed, discussed, and embraced. We are a voluntary association of local governments serving central Ohio. A catalyst for regional change, evidence of our work is seen every day through planning, programming and public policy in the areas of economic development, energy, environment, housing, transportation and land use.

American Electric Power is one of the largest electric utilities in the United States, delivering electricity to more than 5 million customers in 11 states. AEP ranks among the nation's largest generators of electricity, owning nearly 38,000 megawatts of generating capacity in the U.S. AEP also owns the nation's largest electricity transmission system, a nearly 39,000-mile network that includes more 765 kilovolt extra-high voltage transmission lines than all other U.S. transmission systems combined. AEP's transmission system directly or indirectly serves about 10 percent of the electricity demand in the Eastern Interconnection, the interconnected transmission system that covers 38 eastern and central U.S. states and eastern Canada, and approximately 11 percent of the electricity demand in ERCOT, the transmission system that covers much of Texas.

Much of the work of the Center for Energy and Environment will be done with the welfare of future generations in mind. Offering a valuable experience for central Ohio Students, MORPC formed a Youth Advisory Council, comprised of local junior and senior high school students. Without being inhibited by political parameters, perceived limitations, and financial restrictions, youth will have the freedom to add a new perspective to the way we plan our community. Throughout the year students will be invited back to MORPC to weigh in on important environmental issues facing our region.
